the ability to create and analyze business reports and to exchange and integrate information between sources. A basic version of the Software (“Yurbi Community”) may be downloaded for free and used for an indefinite period. If the License issues have not been resolved by the end of the Grace Period, the Software will cease functioning and any and all Licenses will immediately terminate.

2.3. Offline Mode. Yurbi Community, Yurbi Team and Yurbi Enterprise software may be configured to operate in offline mode in Customer environments that do not allow connectivity to the internet. All the same processes described above for online synchronization will apply; provided, however, that instead of automatic online synchronization, Customer must manually download a license synchronization file from Customer Support and manually apply it to the Software periodically as required by the specific terms of Customer’s Yurbi Community, Yurbi Team and Yurbi Enterprise purchase and Licenses.

2.4. Updates. Updates to the Software, including fixes and patches, are distributed via Vendor’s online

The Base License, as included in the "Yurbi Community Package" described below, includes no warranties or guaranties and entitles the User only to web site support. However, the purchase by Customer of any licenses in addition to those included in the Yurbi Community Package will entitle the Customer to the same standard support provided for Yurbi Team.

4.2. App Licenses. Customer may select one or more configurations of the Software designed to correspond with applications and/or databases that Customer may obtain from third party vendors for the purpose of Business Intelligence reporting and analysis. Each application configuration requires a separate App License. The App Licenses offered by Vendor include the following, which are further detailed on Vendor's web site:

4.2.1. AnyDB App License – This is the basic App included in the Yurbi Community Package.

4.2.2. Premium App License. This license is for pre-built Apps that support major vendor applications. Vendor provides additional support for these Apps, such as updates as new versions of the software are released.

4.2.3. Enterprise App License – This App license is offered as part of an Enterprise License Agreement to cover a large number of users for a volume discount.

4.2.4. Connect App License. Customer may select one or more configurations of the Software designed to correspond with applications and/or databases that Customer may obtain from third party vendors for the purpose of extracting, transforming, integrating, or taking action on the data source. Each application configuration requires a separate Connect License. The Connect App Licenses offered by Vendor are listed on Vendor's web site. Each Connect App License is limited to five (5) Connect Workflow Licenses, defined below.

4.2.5. Development/Test Environment Licenses. Upon the request of Customer, Customers of Yurbi Team and Yurbi Enterprise have access to a Development/Test Environment License at no additional cost. A Development/Test Environment License is limited to no more than five (5) Universal App User Licenses and five (5) Connect Workflow Licenses for each Connect App License purchased or if less than 5 licenses are currently licensed the number of actual licensed App Users and Connect Workflows.

4.2.6. Connect Workflow License. A "Connect Workflow License" is a single definition of a rule based on one (1) Connect App to extract, transform, load, or take action between one (1) or more Connect App licenses. Each Connect App License is limited to five (5) Connect Workflow Licenses. Additional Connect Workflow Licenses can be purchased separately.

The Universal App User License must be allocated to one App at a time. However, it can be "reused" in the sense that it can be unallocated from one App and reallocated to another App. This is a named/seat license. A Universal App User License is required for every User in Customer's organization that requires access to a Yurbi App in the Software.

4.4.2. App Specific User License. An "App Specific User License" authorizes a User designated by Customer to be permitted to use the Software to create, edit, rename, modify, delete and organize reports and dashboards only in a particular Yurbi App. In the event that a Yurbi Team or Yurbi Enterprise purchase includes more than one App License, Customer must obtain separate App Specific User Licenses for each application, regardless of whether the User for each application is the same person. This is distinct from the Universal App User License, which allows the Customer to change the App to which the License is allocated, as long only one App is accessed at a time.

4.4.3. Community User Licenses. A “Community User” is a User designated by Customer to be permitted to use the Software to create dashboards utilizing Software widget functionality with the exception of the inclusion of existing reports which require a separate “App License”. The License Codes are linked to the Serial Number, which in turn is linked to the specific Customer Equipment used for installation. License Codes will be required for access to Vendor support as well as for any re-installation of the Software by Customer. Customer must contact support@yurbi.com to request re-installation on different Customer Equipment, which will require the registration of a new Serial Number, and the transfer of the License Codes to the new Serial Number. The previous installation will be deactivated before a transfer to a new Serial Number is permitted.
